DNR Spearheads Pilot Study On Stream Conflicts In County

LANSING — Michigan's Department of Natural Resources announced last week that it will spearhead a pilot study in Crawford County to quell conflicts which are threatening to depreciate property values and reduce fishing to "mediocrity" in heavily used areas of the AuSable River.

The study, to draw liberally upon suggestions of all principal interest groups involved in the problem, will be aimed at correcting confrontations among canoeists, fishermen, and streamside owners, particularly in troubled waters on the main stream of the AuSable from Grayling to McManis Bridge and on the South Branch from Roscommon down to the mouth of that tributary.

In unveiling the Department's plans to take a "strong, leadership role" to solve clashes between the stream's users and owners, DNR Field Deputy Director Warren W. Shapton warned:

"If controls are not initiated soon, fishing in perhaps the greatest trout stream east of the Mississippi will be reduced to mediocrity, property values will be depreciated, and the area's greatest economic asset will be in jeopardy."

He explained that the crux of the problem is overuse — "too many people trying to use the same stretch of the river for several different types of recreation all at the same time."

Shapton added that the pilot plan for the AuSable, as it is cooperatively shaped with local interests, will require that these "competing forces must either be reduced to compatibility or separated by time or space." In any event, he continued, this will mean zoning in some form or combination.

The DNR's plan of action was outlined before the Natural Resources Commission in Traverse City last week after the president of the AuSable River System Property Owners Association dramatized the explosive situation and spelled out a 9-point program to correct littering, vandalism, and other "inexcusably bad behavior of a minority of canoeists."

The group's president, Harrison M. Goodhue of Detroit, said that those in this noisy minority — canoeists between 15 and 25 — are "out for a social lark." He added that they "become intoxicated with their own exuberance, and/or by the consumption of beer or other forms of liquor... engage in yelling, screaming and canoe tipping spears that endanger and frighten the responsible canoeists."

The 9-point proposal put forth by Goodhue to protect and preserve the AuSable from such rowdiness was described by Shapton as a "start." However, the DNR official predicted that "far more restrictions" must eventually be adopted "if the whole problem is to be solved."

Shapton, branding the camping situation as "deplorable" at state-owned access sites on the AuSable, stressed that the DNR's present regulations covering this problem must be "completely overhauled."

He explained that camping at these sites must either be limited or transferred back from the stream. "These areas," he emphasized, "must be rehabilitated before the start of another fishing season."

The DNR's Field Deputy Director cited Crawford County as an "excellent" choice for the pilot study, pointing out that its local units of government have "already taken the initiative with their Green Belt zoning ordinance and shown the capacity to tackle and lick tough environmental problems."

He added that controls developed under the study might apply county-wide, also covering a section of the Manistee River there, so that conflicts are not just transferred from one stream to another.

Shapton also noted that corrective measures to be worked up for Crawford County might also later be applied as model controls for such other streams as the Pere Marquette and the Pine where similar problems exist to a lesser degree.

Commissioner August Scholle of Royal Oak questioned how the DNR expected to enforce more rules stemming from the study in Crawford County. It was pointed out that the DNR's conservation officer force is far below its authorized strength of 20 years ago and Scholle stressed it would be a "real exercise in futility" to adopt more regulations without beefing up personnel to enforce them.

Goodhue quickly explained that his Association of more than 400 members is looking for the local sheriff's department to carry the main load of enforcing new regulations covering the county's streams. He explained that his group was primarily calling upon the Department to spearhead the adoption of regulations which have "teeth in them."

Given such controls, Goodhue said property owners in his Association would be willing to have their taxes increased to underwrite the local enforcement effort.

Clean Environment, Students Topic

By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

Earth days, river clean-up and pollution detection were topics of area students at the Conservation Conference for Michigan Women, held at the Higgins Lake Conservation School, September 15, 16, 17.

Students from Grayling, Gerish Higgins and Houghton Lake schools told the women of their environmental activities.

Mrs. Steven Gerkin's sixth grade students from Grayling had prepared posters to help tell their story. Six students represented the class and told what individuals can do to help prevent litter. "It is simple," they said, "don't litter." The students were, Malina Bancroft, Scott Pick, and Kurt Larson, Terri Crawford, Lori Luintraske and Carman Bigler.

Mrs. William Swift brought a panel of her last year's science class who told of earth day at the Gerrish-Higgins high school last spring. The panel told of their trip to the Dow Chemical Company and what the company is doing to curb pollution. They also told of their spring clean-up of the river. The panel consisted of Mike Green, John Bosserman, Jim Rasmussen, Lauri Cousineau and Cindy Fay.

Sylvia Hamp was the lone survivor of Gerald Mackey's senior government class, Houghton Lake High School. Not that Mr. Mackey was that tough with the students, but they were either in the service or in colleges and were not available for this program. Miss Hamp goes to Northern Michigan College this week.

Senior Band Visits C.M.U.

The Grayling High School Senior Band made its first trip of the new school year Saturday, Sept. 19, when they participated in the annual Central Michigan University Band Day. It was a very educational and exciting trip as they performed with twenty-six other bands, plus the C.M.U. Band, in a thrilling half-time show.

Under the direction of Mr. Norman Deltz, they played "Consider Yourself," from "Oliver," "Edelweiss" from "The Sound of Music," "This is My Country," "Stars and Stripes Forever," and finished off with the C.M.U. fight song "The Fighting Chippewas."

Included in the 28 players who went on the trip were: Betty Konvicka, Sue Meoak, Carol Reed, Margaret Austin, Holly Knibbs, Barbara Minor, Barbara Peters, Greg Wert, Mark Dandy, Charmaine Shepherd, Marie Sorenson, Cathy Knuth, Glen Wert, Christine Cassidy, Lorne Beady, Mike Hall, Franz Kersch, Charlene Papendick, Karl Kersch, Bill Harris, Calvin Gates, D. Paul Aumiller, Don Shepherd, Nancy Funk, Lynn Romans, Marie McIsaac, Cheryl Bourrie and Debbie Bartholomew. Also, Mr. LeRoy Christian, Band Director.

The entire band day program was under the direction of Mr. Norman Deltz, head band director of C.M.U. and his assistant, Jack Saunders.

Slate Meeting On No Hunting In Certain Area

The Grayling Township Board has received a request from the Sunset Park Association to take immediate action to "forbid" hunting on the three forty acres immediately east of Sunset Park, namely the SE 1/4 of SE 1/4 of Section 10 and the SW 1/4 of Section 11, T26N, R4W.

At its regular meeting on September 8, 1970 the Township Board by resolution requested the Hunting Area Control Committee, Law Enforcement Division, Department of Natural Resources to conduct a hearing on the question as provided for under provision of Act 159, Public Acts of 1967. The hearing will be held as part of the regular Township Board Meeting on October 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Room of the Grayling City Hall.

The request from the Sunset Park Association was brought about due to a hunting accident on the afternoon of November 16, 1969.

Grayling Township Supervisor, R. J. Fowler requests that all interested persons and organizations attend this hearing to be assured that their opinions on this matter will be heard.

J.V.'s Take Opener, 34-8

By Jimmy McClain

On Saturday, Sept. 19, the Grayling J.V.'s won their first game of the season by a score of 34-8.

Grayling opened their attack in the first quarter on a long pass from Wayne Westervelt to his flanker Jim Bobenmoyer. The conversion was good with Westervelt running it in.

In the second quarter Houghton Lake came back with a touchdown on a good run. The conversion was good, tying the score at 8-8. But Westervelt scored two more touchdowns on his own running. Both conversions were no good and Grayling led at the half 20-8.

In the third quarter Westervelt scored again on a run and the conversion was no good.

The little Vikings scored once again in the last seconds of the fourth quarter on a pass from Chris Duncley to Bobenmoyer. The conversion was run in by Dan McClain leaving the final score Grayling 34, Houghton Lake 8.

Bill Horning and Dave White both picked up good yardage setting up some touchdowns.

Bob Miller, Andy Trevino, and Jim Bobenmoyer were fine receivers.

Pat Gorman, Steve Persing, Joe Shepler, Bruce King, Dave Vajda and Dan Moore all played well on defense.

The J.V.'s next game is on Thursday, Sept. 24, when they will meet Harrison, there.

515 Students Enroll At Kirtland C C

The Fall enrollment of 515 students has produced the largest head count for Kirtland Community College since its conception in 1966. One hundred and forty-five students have returned to the classrooms this semester and many of them will be looking forward to graduation and transfer to four year institutions of higher learning in the spring. Three hundred seventy new students, both full and part-time, have registered for classes for the first time giving Kirtland a 40% increase in enrollment over last fall.

Off-campus programs in Cadillac and Gaylord account for 60 of the 515 total, while a special assessors' class at Kirtland numbers 60 new students.

Occupational program enrollment is led by Business Administration, Natural Resources and Cosmetology, with the Business area leading in total enrollment with 62 participants.

Cosmetology and the secretarial sciences have attracted 46 women students and both programs boast of perfect placement after graduation.

Police Administration, Manufacturing Processes, Electro-Technology, Drafting and Design, and Automotive Technology all have about twenty students engaged in studies within their occupational area.

Meeting Notice

The Frederic Elementary Community School Association has changed their meeting night from the second Thursday to the first Thursday in October. The meeting will be held October 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the Frederic School Gym. This meeting will be a social meeting at which time all new teachers and returning teachers will be introduced and honored. Refreshments and fun will be had by all who attend.

The regular meeting date of the second Thursday will be continued in November and the balance of the school year. Everyone is welcome to attend the regular meetings.

School Assn. Hold Meeting

On Thursday evening, the 17th of September, a meeting of the Crawford-AuSable School Association was held at the Grayling Elementary School. It was brought to the attention of the parents that there has been a new ruling by the State Supreme Court which requires the school to provide school supplies for each student.

But, due to the shortness of time since the ruling and a shortage of money, it is nearly impossible to provide for the students adequately. Therefore, it was decided by the group, as a project, to have a campaign to raise money or take donations of school supplies.

If everyone would help with just a small donation or a few school items, it would be appreciated. Call 348-7277, 348-9978 or 348-7138 for pick-up of any items or send donations to C. Golinick, 1000 Lake St., Grayling. With the help of the community we are sure this can greatly help our school and our children and grandchildren.

The Grayling Vikings following an 8-0 first half lead, erupted for 30 points in the second half to overwhelm the Houghton Lake Bobcats in a non-league contest at Houghton Lake last Friday, 38-0.

The Viking defense was too much for the Bobcats as the Lakers threatened to score only a couple times, throughout the game.

This Friday evening Grayling will take on the Onaway Cardinals at the local gridiron in their first league game.

The Vikings will be out to avenge the only defeat handed them last year, as they lost to the Cardinals 14-12, in the next to last game of the season.

Onaway has always been noted as a tough defensive squad, and will be fielding players from JV squads that have gone undefeated the last two years.

The Cardinal game is a must win for the Vikings as they start their quest for a second Northern Lower Michigan League championship.

After kicking off to Houghton Lake the Viking defense showed they wanted to play football by stopping the Bobcats on the first series of plays.

The Viking offense moved down to the Bobcat 30 only to lose the ball on a fumble. Later the Viking defense stopped the Bobcats on the 38 and forced a punt. They then marched down the field with Mert Theaker going around right end for 33 yards. Tim Mead passed to Jim Tobin for the 2-point conversion and the Vikings held an 8-0 lead.

The rest of the first half was a defensive battle with the Vikings nearly scoring when they drove to the 2-yard line just as the half ended.

The second half found the Vikings receiving the kickoff and driving 65 yards for a TD with Tim Mead passing to Dan McIsaac for the final 23 yards. The extra point try failed and Grayling led 14-0.

Later in the third quarter Tom Gates intercepted a pass and raced 30 yards into the end zone. Mead again hit Tobin for two points and the Vikings enjoyed a 22-0 third quarter lead.

In the fourth quarter it was much the same game as the third quarter, with a good sound defensive game stopping Houghton Lake cold and forcing them to give up the ball.

Mead's passing and running set up the next two TD's with Tim getting one on a quarter.

NOTICE

No cars will be allowed within the fenced enclosure of the football field at home games this year, it has been announced by the School Administration.

Trout Unlimited to Lead Clean-up Of AuSable

On Saturday, Sept. 26, the Paul Young Chapter of Trout Unlimited is sponsoring a clean-up of the Mason Tract of the South Branch of the AuSable River.

Members of T.U. aided by volunteer groups of college students will remove trash from this stretch of the river. This is necessary because of the heavy use this stream receives during the summer by the general public. Local canoe rentals are co-operating by providing canoes for transporting the trash to pick up points where DNR trucks will haul it away. T.U. in co-operation with personnel from the DNR will provide the students with some instruction in stream ecology.

Headquarters for the project will be the Canoe Harbor Campgrounds on M-72 where a steak dinner will be held following the days work on Saturday.

NAME OMITTED

Ken Chappell's name was omitted from the Chamber Board of Directors listed in last week's paper. Ken still has a couple of seasons to go on his term of office. He is owner of Ken Chappell Real Estate.

WHERE ARE WE?

By Oscar Parsons

Why do our senior citizens enjoy life like they do? Why are they all so happy and so contented, too? Because they love their little home

And the plans laid out for them; The flowers, games and well kept lawn

That makes a perfect blend. We have a nice big Center, Where we can congregate; Play cards and sing and even dance

Until the hours grow late. And then again a trip is planned For some city or a town, Where we can stop some place to eat

Or simply look around. We do enjoy the street out front To wallow in the mud; Or go to Mackinac Island And stand in line for grub.

No matter how really bad things are You never hear us complain. The things we most look forward to

Is, when do we go again. (Paid)

Publisher

Grayling, Michigan

Sir:

This letter is written in reference to your biased lead story in the issue of September 10, 1970. I do not expect that you will publish letters which are critical of Grayling, the leeches and swindlers therein or the promoters in the Chamber of Commerce, but at least I shall have the satisfaction of letting you and the Chamber know exactly what I think.

Belatedly, and in its usual tentative way, the DNR has acted in the matter of the absolutely untenable situation now obtaining on the AuSable River and some of its tributaries, whereby those waterways have been turned into canoe raceways for the use and amusement of vulgar and stupid persons caring nothing for the environment, the rights of others, or the rivers themselves. Anyone — excepting possibly Chum Longworth and his cronies — admits that any kind of fishing on the Main Stream below Grayling, the South Branch, or most of the Manistee, is impossible once the daily canoe hatch starts. I repeat: Impossible.

The cause of this miserable canoe hatch is the undisguised and unmitigated greed of the livery owners, who deliberately own and rent ten times too many canoes purely for the selfish purpose of feathering their own already well-lined nests and without any thought of any other and incompatible use.

Some of the real estate operators in Crawford County — the so-called "developers" — are nothing more nor less than rapacious plunderers. If they could, they would turn the whole north into another suburb of Detroit, complete with "mobile home estates" and other euphemisms for slums, toward which they already have more than a fair start. The lack of any effective zoning in northern Lower Peninsula counties and the greed of these counties for tax dollars is making it impossible for anyone less than a millionaire to resist the blandishments of the urban developers to sell to them for the purpose of more subdivision and more rape.

If Mr. Longworth was so eager to make Crawford County a "pilot" county, he was a long time getting around to it. I submit that the various robbers' roost operators in Crawford County have no intention of doing anything other than attracting more and more people to whom to sell more and more junk and to who to rent more and more canoes.

While I am about it, I should like to add that the so-called retailers of Grayling have a lot to learn. These hicks and rubes seem to have studied all the ways to ignore customers, and further to have advanced degrees in rudeness and incivility. I am a landowner in Crawford County but I do my business in Traverse City, Kalkaska and Gaylord, where, at least, greed and cynicism are not practiced by the front foot.

Mr. Longworth's mealy-mouth-

Property owners and other users of the AuSable River are taking steps to protect the river. As I went down the South Branch of the AuSable recently I saw two new stone rip-rap revetments going in. This was just between Roscommon and the Stecker Bridge.

Property owners are warning canoeists against throwing cans and other trash into the river.

The livery operators report that litter bags they furnish canoeists are being properly used.

The livery operators take the lead in river clean up. They report that the river is more free from litter now than four (4) years ago. This indicates more care being given the river by its users.

Many groups volunteer for river clean up. One group from Detroit College has made arrangements with the South Branch Canoe Livery Association for canoes to clean the river September 26.

The livers have supplied canoes for such groups, however sometimes there is more play than clean up. They would rather do it themselves, however where there is a well chaperoned group really serious about river clean-up the Association will still furnish canoes.

Both Grayling and the Village of Roscommon are making progress towards taking effluent out of the river.

All of these steps and more will be necessary as greater numbers of people flock to the north for relief from the heat of the cities, and to enjoy our beautiful recreational resources.

ed words come too late. If the DNR has any guts it will send the canoe livery operators to Florida with their ill-gotten gains and make the AuSable and Manistee River systems fishable again. Energy and exuberance are trademarks of youth. You can see it clearly when a group of cheerleaders go into action.

Quick reaction is a mark of youth. If the team wins, these girls will be on top of the world. If it loses, they will go home with shoulders slumped. They haven't really learned "to take it". Withstanding both success and failure is a mark of maturity, and finding the strength to go on becomes an act of faith.

Have you grown up? Do you have that kind of faith? If not, the first steps toward finding it might be a walk to the church door.

A Man Of Conviction

A news release from Klamath Falls, Oregon, recounts how the sheriff of Klamath County has proven himself to be a man of conviction. When the state sent him new cars from a state purchasing agent, he refused them on the grounds that local automobile dealers should have the business. In a letter to the County Commissioners, he said, "I feel that local taxpayers merchants could have provided these vehicles!" The Commissioners had bought the cars through a state agency, because they were available at a lower price. Naturally, the price of a car purchased from a state purchasing agency would be lower than from a private dealer. Private car dealers pay taxes. State purchasing agencies do not. The same principle applies in everything from tax-exempt federal electric power to government printed envelopes.

In noting the incident, a local Oregon editor asked, "Just how far are the citizens of this state going to go in allowing state agencies to compete with local taxpaying private businesses?" A lot of people in a lot of states could well ask themselves this same question.

National Newspaper Week

Very shortly — October 4 to 10 — the U.S. will observe National Newspaper Week. The theme this year will be, "American Newspapers — 200 Years of Freedom — 1770's to 1970's." Just to read those words denoting the theme of Newspaper Week should be enough to warm the heart of Mr. Average U.S. Citizen. During the year, editors duly take notice of many worthy and memorable observances. But, they cannot be blamed for calling attention, with a certain degree of pride, as well as humbleness, to their own special Week.

The fact that after 200 years personal liberty under representative government still prevails is due, in no small part, to the "eternal vigilance" of a free press. The community newspaper — and there are over 10,000 of them — is an institution that lends permanence and tangibility to individual rights as nothing else can. Every nation has its national observances. In most, however, there is no occasion to celebrate a National Newspaper Week. Where there is no free press, the less said about the newspaper, the better. Yes, National Newspaper Week is a heartwarming reminder that we have lived in freedom for 200 years and that the community newspaper has played no small role in preserving that freedom.

Red Cross Drive Set For October

The American Red Cross is the instrument chosen by Congress to help carry out the obligations assumed by the United States under certain international treaties known as the Geneva or Red Cross Conventions.

The Congressional charter imposes on the American Red Cross the duties to act as the medium of Voluntary relief and communications between the American people and the Armed Forces, and to carry on a system of National and International relief to prevent and mitigate the suffering caused by disasters. All the activities of the American Red Cross and its chapters support these duties.

Nationally and locally the American Red Cross chapters are governed by volunteers. The duties are performed by volunteers and it is financed by your voluntary contributions.

Locally your American Red Cross maintains a loan closet to help with the ill and infirm. Your Red Cross chapter sponsors the blood program. Your chapter has two volunteers available, 24 hours a day ready and willing to aid the families of your armed forces. From July 1, 1969 to July 1, 1970, these two volunteers aided the field directors at Camp Grayling during the recent encampment; and sent two health and welfare reports to servicemen, inquiring on families. Six health and welfare reports regarding servicemen were sent to the parents, and they helped arrange one military escort.

Seven death messages were sent and two emergency leaves were granted servicemen due to serious illness at home. Two calls regarding servicemen who were absent without leave, two calls to the veterans administration office for information for servicemen, three birth messages were sent, two servicemen's wives were helped to obtain I.D. cards, one serviceman's wife was helped to obtain medical expense for her baby's birth, one loan was granted and repaid, one address request from overseas field director given, one information request on R.R. in Hawaii for serviceman's wife fulfilled.

These are only a few of the many duties performed by your local volunteers in service to military families.

Without your contributions to the American Red Cross we could not do these. We must pay for phone bills, stamps and paper, travel miles sometimes to do these duties.

We, the volunteer to service to military families, your local blood program and your local Red Cross Chapter, are appealing to you, the residents of Crawford County to help with a generous contribution when the Red Cross volunteer comes for your contribution, so we may do a better job for you. Without your help we can not carry on these programs.

Thank you all and remember us in October when our drive begins.

Geraldine Muth, your Crawford County Chairman service to military families.

Beryl Moore, Co-chairman to military families; Crawford County Blood Chairman Matilda Cruickshank, October Drive Chairman.

Back To The Campus

Back to the Campus.

The nip of autumn is in the air, so can back-to-the-campus reality be far behind?

And with the return of Michigan's 400,000 college and university students come dire predictions and sober apprehensions about further violence on the campuses in months ahead.

These same kinds of predictions used to be reserved for the ghetto streets as summer approached. In Michigan the last few summers our urban conglomerates have been spared the violence of most recent summers past.

Will the same kind of edgy peace—if that it be—pervade our hallowed halls of university education? It's not likely.

We read in the paper that many university administrators are promising a much harder line against student dissidents who turn to violence and disruption. The majority of students don't get involved in tearing down the campus to bring down the establishment, and some administrators—we are told—are now turning more constructive thought to the protection of the rights of these majority students. Let us hope so.

One other factor cited by some observers as a possible reason there won't be as much unrest on the campus this coming school year is that a conscious effort has been made to involve younger people in some decision-making positions.

For example, several schools in Michigan have hired new vice presidents for student affairs, and many of them are relatively young—most in their thirties. Some other top administrators have put on new staff assistants, only a few years out of college themselves, in an obvious attempt to redirect their own thinking to a younger orientation—more at the student level, so to speak.

Gov. Milliken—perhaps recognizing the increasing importance of the younger voting market—also has placed an accent on youth. As one element of an attempt to break through the age gap, the governor has appointed recent graduates to the governing boards of their alma maters—Corydon L. Somers, 24, at Lake Superior State College; David B. Lewis, 26, at Oakland University; and Mrs. Dee Boersma, 23, at Central Michigan University. It is to be assumed that age, or lack of it, is to join a running list of criteria for appointment to governing boards, such as sex, race, nationality, geography, politics and other factors which appear to be existing criteria.

One thing that has always bothered me about the involvement of students in setting the directions of universities is the inescapable fact that youth is so fleeting... that tenure as a student at a university is so brief... that it's all over so fast before the student becomes an alumnus, with perhaps an altogether different outlook on things that he thought were so vital just a few short years before.

For example, those who first espoused the dogma that you can't trust anyone over 30 are now all over 30, and some nearing 40.

Who's to say that an individual in college, devoting to campus life only four brief years of his allotted three-score-and-ten, knows what he's talking about, as far as the structure of the educational system should be concerned?

By the time a student finds his way to all his classrooms, he is different than the poor bewildered high school graduate who first wrestled with college entrance rigamarole and his first registration; by the time he knows (or thinks he knows) what's wrong with the university, he's half-way through; by the time he gets his proposed changes in workable form, and gets to work on putting them into effect, he's ready to graduate himself.

And then comes a whole new set of young individuals, railing against what their immediate predecessors have tried to put into motion.

It's enough to send a true educator searching for his own Walden Pond—which, perhaps, isn't such a bad idea anyway.

When President Dunster, acting on behalf of the "college" originally "ordered to be at Newetowne," petitioned the General Court and received therefrom in 1650 a Charter which fixed the governing body of that "college" as a corporation, Harvard became the first, and therefore, now is the oldest Corporation on the North American continent.

This ad might save you about 500 bucks.

It's simply a matter of arithmetic. Say you're about to buy a new water heater. You have two choices. Gas or electric. Right? Wrong. Once you read the facts you'll find that Gas is the only choice. And here's why. Gas heats water faster for about 1/2 the cost of electricity. For the sake of argument, say you have two hot water heaters. A 40-gallon Gas heater. And an 80-gallon electric. Well, the truth is that the 40-gallon Gas heater will produce more hot water than the 80-gallon electric for 1/2 the cost. That alone could save you as much as $500 a year. And it's not just a theory. It's a fact. Gas is the only choice. Call today for a free estimate. Phone 348-9131.

Dem Candidate Opens Office at Bay City

Gerald J. Parent, candidate for the 10th Congressional District announces the opening of his main Campaign Headquarters at 818 N. Water St., Suite 206, Bay City, Mich.

The opening of other offices in the district around Gratiot, Isabella, Iosco and Alpena areas are expected in the near future. Parent feels the opening of multiple offices out in the District will give the people an opportunity to know him and get involved in the vital business of electing a Congressman to work for them.

Kirtland Dean Completes Ed.D. Degree in Florida

Wayne F. Krueger, Kirtland's Dean of Occupational Studies, has returned from Dade City, Fla., after several weeks of studying to complete his Ed.D. Degree from East Coast University. Mr. Krueger was one of 23 candidates who received their doctorates there in August. He also holds a BA degree from Western Michigan University and MA and Ed.S. degrees from Wayne State University. Mr. Krueger came to Kirtland in 1968 from Macomb Community College where he had been coordinator of industrial cooperative education, and prior to that, an instructor there. His excellent background and ability in industrial education has proven beneficial to Kirtland in planning buildings and programs in vocational technical education over the past two and a half years. Earlier this year Mr. Krueger was cited by the Wayne State Guild of Detroit for his contribution to occupational studies on the community college level.

New Telephone Directory Out

One of the most widely used publications in the United States — the telephone directory — is now being delivered to General Telephone customers in Grayling. A. Murphy, district manager for the company, said there are no major format changes in the new directory but suggested customers familiarize themselves with the location of important information in the directory.

"Places for emergency numbers are conveniently located on page one. Murphy pointed out. "We want the location of these numbers readily available and easy to find."

The alphabetical index and a table of contents for the directory appear on the inside cover and the list for frequently called numbers appears on the inside back cover. A localized exchange area map, printed in conjunction with the Continental U.S. Area Code Map, also appears again in the directory.

All types of calls — station-to-station, person-to-person, conference, collect, overseas, mobile and marine — and a graphic description of the rate periods appear in the introductory pages of the new directory.

Murphy suggested customers carefully leaf through their old directory before replacing it with the new edition. "Often important papers, letters and even money, are placed in the telephone directory for safekeeping and forgotten," he said. "Remember, also, to transfer that list of frequently called numbers from the old directory to the new one."

The directory is larger this year because of expanded listings, the manager said. He added that General Telephone would distribute more than 13,700 directories in the area this year.

To Ballot On Parochial

The Michigan Council Against Parochialism (CAP) today applauded the decision of the State Supreme Court that, in effect, will place on the November ballot an amendment to the Michigan Constitution forbidding the use of public funds for non-public schools.

"This proper decision upholding the concern of 277 citizens of this county who signed petitions last spring calling for a public vote on parochialism," Paul Frederick, County Coordinator for the Council Against Parochialism, said. "Earlier this year, CAP filed nearly 320,000 petitions with the Secretary of State's Office requesting an amendment to the Michigan Constitution forbidding the use of public funds for non-public schools."

"The decision of the Supreme Court reaffirms our firm belief in the right of the public to ballot on this educational issue," Mrs. Harriett Phillips, Huntington Woods, CAP Chairman, said. "Now the last attempt to forestall a ballot proposition has been denied by the State's highest court," she said, "and the question will be on the November 3rd ballot."

Mrs. Phillips said the Council, composed of representatives of several educational, religious, labor, and service organizations, will immediately appoint an executive director to organize the intensive state-wide campaign calling for voter approval of the CAP-proposed amendment.

Proclamation

"During 79 years of providing child welfare services in Michigan, the Michigan Children's Aid Society has met the increasing needs and demands each year."

"The Society has placed for adoption in 1969 over 1,050 children, provided foster care for over 2,800 dependent or neglected children, and provided counseling and assistance to 2,590 unmarried parents."

"A statewide agency that is non-sectarian and voluntary, the Michigan Children's Aid Society is expanding in nearly every county to develop family service counseling centers."

"Therefore, I, William G. Milliken, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby proclaim September 20-26, 1970, as MICHIGAN CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY WEEK."

in Michigan, and urge every Michigan citizen to recognize the worthwhile services being performed by this invaluable organization."

"If It Fitz . . ." How Women Should Dress

By Jim Fitzgerald

Victor Costa, the fashion designer for Suzy Perette, has invited me to "a special press showing of his daytime, casual and cocktail clothes."

The invitation adds that a continental breakfast will be served in Hudson's Horseless Carriage Room.

What do you bet you can't get oatmeal with brown sugar at a continental breakfast?

It beats me how I got asked to such an affair. I don't know Suzy Perette and Victor Costa from Lum 'n Abner. I am bewildered by the idea of daytime, casual and cocktail clothes. What are the differences? It seems I outfit should cover all occasions. If you can't be casual in the daytime, when else? And it's just good sense to wear casual clothes while getting swacked on cocktails. You don't want to dribble all over your Sunday suit, do you?

What's probably happened is that Suzy and Victor somehow heard I am the world's foremost girl-watcher. They want to know what I like most to watch—micro, mini, midi or maxi? They want to observe my reactions as their lovely models parade past my bulging eyeballs. Saliva tests will be administered at regular intervals.

I'll be happy to lend my expertise to such a humanitarian project. Generally speaking, women are lovely, liberated or enslaved. But many of them appear in public looking as if they snuck out on the porch to get the morning paper and the door locked behind them. Or as if all their "sanitized" labels werephony. Or as if they lost an election bet and were forced to wear their infant daughters' clothes for a year.

My advice to Victor and Suzy will be simple:

Young gals with smashing legs should wear minis, the micro the better. The same thing goes for old gals who look young. But the majority of women over 30 should face facts, as flabby or scrawny or wrinkled or blue as those facts may be. Their skirts should reach their knees and should be flared enough so as to cover all situations adequately when they sit down. When Mary Margaret Mead sits down to talk to Johnny Carson, I wonder how she can be so smart about some things, and so dumb about others.

The midi and maxi are atrocious. Any woman who has that much to hide might better just stay home.

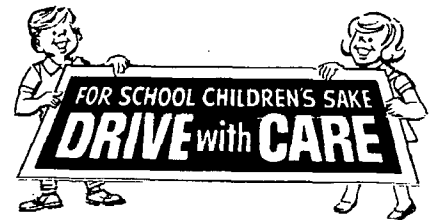

Those knee-high boots make me think the women's lib has won, a matriarchal government has been installed, and those boots are made for stomping men.

The décolletage should be mentioned, seeing as it borders on the part of the female anatomy with which America is most fascinated. They key word is "border." The border should always be north, and not too far east and west, of the main points of interest. Never south. Topless waitresses turn me off and prompt me to shield my soup with my hands.

And I'm told that real swinging gals are now going braless. They're the ones who shouldn't. Think about it.

That's it, except to Xerox my usual request that the Almighty topple stacks of canned food down upon all women who wear curlers to the supermarket.

Onward and Upward, Suzy and Victor.

Letters To The Editor

Star Route, Box 13
Grayling, Michigan
Sept. 17, 1970

Dear Editor,

I just read Duane C. Thompson's letter about the gates being locked at the Dump and I think I'm in a position to answer it.

I was in charge of the Down
River Dump when it was open 24 hours a day for two years, and it was impossible to keep it in shape.

People would come in at night
when I wasn't there and dump loads of brush, logs, stumps and trash right in the middle of the road, also loads of leaves mixed with broken cement blocks, etc.
Also dead horses, beef guts, front quarters of deer, dead chickens, dead dogs, any place they felt like it.

Nothing was wrapped or tied up and besides having to work my head off putting the brush and trash in the trench, I had to walk my legs off picking up paper.

I tried to keep signs up but they were torn down as fast as I put them up. Some were taken to the river at the Whirlpool.

Several times it was set on fire when I wasn't there.

I still say the only way to control it is to keep the gates locked when the caretaker isn't there and I ought to know. I had it for a while after the gates were locked. In fact, I locked the gate the first time.

ling, made the same plea to the

eted by Houghton Lake State Police officers on September 8th.
The fine of $143 or 20 days was paid.

"The Passing Of Time"

By Cmdr. Richard S. Brown

From the hollow graves of ancient Indian burial mounds, echoes from the past still whisper in the night winds. They tell of colorful ceremonial dress rituals set against the rhythmic beating of tribal drums. They speak of old women of the tribe on bended knee, weeping in plaintive cries over the dead. And they also tell of the medicine man, shaking, strange looking beads, chanting in prayer to "ward-off" evil spirits while dust is strewn about the gravesite. Yes, the sounds are all here — For they linger about in the breath of cool breeze and solemn darkness of night in the old Cemetery of PereCheney.

Today, a few wobbling tombstones, burial-mounds that are almost washed away from years of rain and wind, remain as mere symbols of repugnance in this graveyard which is located near lonely backroads off I-75, South of Grayling. And the town of PereCheney, once a thriving little community during the early logging days has vanished. It died out many years ago, giving way to what is now Grayling. And the only visible evidence that this town ever existed here, is found in the mound clearings where cabins and buildings stood. Yes, the settler and the Indian are gone — their bones embraced by the soil they worked for and loved. For the "old ones" here, are just remnants of a by-gone-era, remaining in the ashes of their past for eternity.

But they are not forgotten through the passing of time. The PereCheney Cemetery has been kept-up by the efforts of those who cared. The grounds no longer support high weeds. And the grave-stones that once toppled over, are now standing straight, their pinnacle tops, skyward toward the face of God. People do care.

As I left the graveyard at sunrise, the old iron gate to the entrance creaked on rusty hinges as if sounding its awareness of my presence during the "spend" night — Perhaps within those mournful sounds, a special "thanks" was expressed for writing this article in memory of the dead?

However, if you plan to visit this ancient resting place, make sure you leave before the black cloak of darkness covers the sky. Let the dead rest in peace. They deserve it.

But if your curiosity warrants a "stay" during the night... be very still — For you too, may hear the echoes that whisper about? You might even witness a sacred dance ritual — a ritual of ghostly reflected images in the pale wash of bright moonlight... One can never tell?

25th Annual Contest

Make It Yourself With Wool

The Grand Tour is the Grand Prize in the "Make It Yourself With Wool" Competition, now in its 25th Anniversary year.

Win at National and off you go via KLM Dutch Airlines for an unforgettable vacation in the fun and fashion capitals of Europe. Other prizes include college scholarships, U.S. Savings Bonds, sewing machines, stunning accessories, luggage and toiletries. And, there are all kinds of lovely prizes offered at District and State Competitions, too. State winner in the competition receives a free trip to the National Finals to be held in Las Vegas, Nevada, January 19, 1971.

Mrs. Robert Kilbourn, Route 2, Box 790, Gaylord, Mich. 49735, telephone (517) 732-5821 and Mrs. Lloyd A. Wolf, 609 North Court Avenue, Gaylord, Mich. 49735, telephone (517) 732-4963 will serve as district co-directors of District Ten for the "Make It Yourself With Wool" competition in Michigan. Mrs. Lawrence C. Boettner, State Director of Bridgewater, has announced.

Mrs. Kilbourn and Mrs. Wolf's district includes Alcona, Alpena, Cheboygan, Crawford, Iosco, Montmorency, Ogemaw, Osceola, Presque Isle, and Roscommon counties.

To enter Make It Yourself With Wool, a girl must make a 100% wool suit, coat, dress or pants outfit from fabric loomed or knitted in the United States. She must model her own garment before judges and appear in fashion shows beginning at the district level.

The competition is open to all girls who accept its rules. Girls compete with others in their age group: Juniors with Juniors (14-16) and Seniors with Seniors (17-21). Michigan has a Sub-Deb division (10-13), however Sub-Debs do not proceed beyond the District final.

Boy Scout Honor Campers Hold Conclave

Unscheduled Ordeals were met by more than 100 campers the weekend before last as they endured a downpour of rain during their Ceremony Campfires at the fall conclave of the Tittabawasink Lodge, Order of the Arrow, held at the Paul Bunyan Scout Reservation north of Mio. Honors were conferred on 47 Boy Scouts, Explorers and leaders.

Dr. Willard M. Gentry, Scoutmaster of Troop 361, First United Methodist Church, Midland, also vice president of the Paul Bunyan Council, was recipient of the highest national recognition a local council lodge can convey, the Vigil Honor. He has served the Council in many capacities including Scout Commissioner, and as a National Jamboree Scoutmaster in 1964 at Valley Forge. He was Scoutmaster for a Region Seven Host Corp troop at the World Jamboree in Idaho in 1967.

Ordeal induction ceremonies were conducted by Hal Burtzloff, Tawas City, for 37 Scouts and leaders, and nine sealed their membership in the Order of the Arrow by completion of the Brotherhood Honors work under leadership of Kenneth Williams, Explorer Post 61. Presiding over the entire Conclave was Tittabawasink Lodge Chief Donald Thurber, Troop 65, Memorial Presbyterian Church of Midland.

Numerous work projects were undertaken at the camp including road improvement, erosion control, painting, brush cutting and removal of dead trees and stumps.

Those inducted into the Ordeal honors included, from Troop 79, Grayling Kiwanis Club, Dean Molnar, son of the Joe Molnar, Mike Hall, son of the Dewain Halls, and Bernard Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Larson.

Grayling, Michigan

Dear Dave,

Just a note to thank you and the other members of the Jaycees and the Chamber of Commerce for your hospitality during the weekend of the canoe races.

Marilynn and Linda were just thrilled to win the race in the Women's competition and Tim and I were very happy to come in fifth place considering the tough competition that was entered in the race.

We enjoyed ourselves tremendously, and hope that we can return the hospitality some time when you might be in Pontiac.

Sincerely,
Richard T. Eldred

Worth seeing. Worth owning. Worth waiting for.

Vega. Not just another little car, but one little car that does everything well. You get more room, more weight and more power than most little cars give you, yet the gas mileage is right in the same neighborhood with the best of them. Vegas come dressed up, too, not stripped to the bone so you have to add a lot to make them liveable. Drive one. You'll see.

Caprice. There's a double layer of steel in the roof, a steel guard beam in each door, power disc brakes up front, a new power ventilation system inside, a wheelbase two and one-half inches longer. You get the looks and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, but at Chevrolet prices. And that's the kind of change during these tight-money times that all of us can appreciate.

Vanishing tailgate. A big change in our big wagon. The window goes up into the roof, the Glide-Away tailgate vanishes beneath the floor. Out of sight. Out of your way for easy loading even in a closed garage or when you have a trailer hooked on.
